The image displays architectural drawings for a building complex. At the top left is a site plan showing the building's location relative to a road and a green area. To its right is a cross-section drawing of a building, showing its internal structure and roof profile. Below these are two large floor plans. The top floor plan is a detailed section through the building, showing multiple rooms and corridors. The bottom floor plan is a more comprehensive layout of the building's footprint, showing various rooms and outdoor spaces. The drawings are rendered in a clean, technical style with black lines on a white background. The text '©weltenerfinder.de' is visible in the bottom right corner of the floor plans.
